

Hi...I work both professionally as an actor and a teacher in the NewYork City school system...I use all media sources at my disposal and find that both of my jobs require the constant up to date information that I receive...

I feel that the FCC need to continue to rely on market forces and continue to be responsive to community based programming...

get rid of payola...

I find that national playlists are like Home Depot and Walmart...they have homogenized our life and the USA...

Thanks for the public proceedings...
